

Stories of solitude.

The burden he carries everyday.

Working with blood and sweat...

...just to provide for his family.

Yet he has never received appreciation.

Never been gifted a flower,

He is only judged based on what he can provide.

We are creating a comforting space
away from everyday chaos.

A large, faint, sepia-toned photograph of a person wearing a flowing white dress, visible on the left side of the frame.

Find your space with us.

YouTube: @sillores

Instagram / Facebook: silhouettelores
sillores.github.io